

Support - Log Analysis

An important tool to troubleshoot issues at 2nd level is log analysis, both from client and server.

This is mostly important to have a quick overview of what's not going on, especially when network related or in case of application crashes.