

Solution - Fix The Configuration

Change the configuration of the client accordingly to your presumption and test the issue again to check it has been solved by your modification. Then note down the modification you made and pass the whole information to your knowledge base system.